Investment and Commercial

Forests and woodlands are capable of providing excellent returns on investment and are a sensible choice in terms of the management of taxation.

We provide impartial market valuations and balanced investment advice for all types of woodland. We can source properties, assist in the acquisition of woodlands and also offer high quality woodland management services to help realise our clients' investment.

Amenity Trees, Arboriculture and Planning

Trees often play a crucial role in both rural and urban environments and increasingly require specialist and sensitive management. We can carry out tree condition surveys, pre development tree surveys (BS5837) and provide design and tree and woodland management plans for landowners and developers. We also have expertise in project managing arboriculture and amenity landscape contracts.

Native Woodland and Traditional Forest Management

We have helped establish some of the most extensive new native woodlands in Scotland and have acquired a unique level of expertise in this specialised form of land management. Our approach has been to develop a pro-active and comprehensive delivery.

Specialised Woodland Management

The management of trees and woodland often needs to meet the needs of specific non timber objectives ranging from native woodland restoration, the design of farm shelterwoods and sporting woodland to the provision of community woodlands. Our foresters are not only able to draw on their own experience, but also upon the expertise of other land managers within the firm to ensure that our advice fully integrates with other aspects of land management such as agricultural, sporting and other rural enterprises.

Environment, Conservation and Landscape

Environmental, conservation and landscaping issues are significant factors to consider in forest management. To ensure the aims of our clients are met, we offer forest planning and consultancy services. We negotiate on behalf of our clients with statutory bodies and other relevant parties and submit funding applications and long term Forest Plans.
